Is it possible
to feel rich
when you own nothing?

"I had everything I needed,
I had a house and I raised two children.
I gave it all away."

In 1996 Heidemarie Schwermer made a deliberate choice to stop using money.

Today, 14 years later, the German woman is still living a life based on exchanging favors instead of money.

She is constantly on the move, meeting new people, helping others find a path to a simpler and more harmonious life.

The opinions about Heidemarie's lifestyle are mixed, some call her a "parasite" and others a "visionary source of inspiration."

How does money influence our way of thinking, living and acting?
